50 Years of Comparative Biochemistry: The Legacy of Peter Hochachka

On what would have been the occasion of his 80th birthday, a Special Symposium will be held to celebrate the contributions of Peter Hochachka, a pioneer in the field of Comparative Biochemistry. Although he passed away in 2002, his legacy thrives through his many research contributions and mentoring of the students and post-doctoral fellows that passed through his lab over nearly three decades of research.

When and where: This meeting will be held May 13 and 14, 2017, as a satellite symposium preceding the annual meeting of the Canadian Society of Zoologists at the University of Manitoba in Winnipeg. Details on the costs and registration will follow. Please distribute this notice to your former students and colleagues who may be interested in the theme of comparative biochemistry.

Oral Presentations: Session chairs (below) will select speakers for oral presentations within the following broad themes.

Hypoxia: Organized by Les Buck, University of Toronto & Kevin Campbell, University of Manitoba

Temperature: Jim Staples, Western University & Chris Moyes, Queen's University

Bioenergetics: Grant McClelland, McMaster Univ. & Charles Darveau, Univ. of Ottawa

Evolution of Metabolism: Trish Schulte, UBC & Helga Guderley, Université Laval

Ecophysiology & Adaptive Change: Tom Moon, Univ. Ottawa & Gary Burness, Trent Univ.

Poster presentations: In addition to invited oral presentations, attendees are encouraged to contribute to a Saturday evening poster session.

CSZ Meeting: Those who attend the CSZ meeting are encouraged to submit their work for oral or poster presentations as part of that programme.

Comparative Biochemistry and Physiology: A special issue of CBP-B: Biochemistry and Molecular Biology will be published in association with the meeting. The Special Issue will be a combination of primary publications and reviews, each subject to the regular peer-review process. Tentative deadline for submissions: May 1, 2017.
